ABOUT THE STORY
Essie and Amber are sisters. They live with their mother in an apartment where they wait for their father to come home from prison. In a series of poems, Vera B. Williams tells the heartwarming and heartwrenching story of two sisters who take care of each other through thick and thin.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR/ ILLUSTRATOR
Vera B. Williams was born in California and went to school in North Carolina. She has worked as a cook and baker, a teacher, and a graphic artist and has written and illustrated many books for children. Two of her books, More More More,” Said the Baby and A Chair for My Mother are Caldecott Honor books. She lives in New York City.

INTRODUCING THE STORY
Ask children to tell about their siblings. Do they take care of their sisters and brothers, or do their sisters and brothers take care of them? Explain that the book they will read is about two sisters who help each other in many different ways.

CROSS-CURRICULAR ACTIVITIES
Language Arts: Neighbor Poem
Some of the poems in Amber Was Brave, Essie Was Smart describe the girls’ friends and neighbors. Ask children to write their own poems to describe a friend or neighbor. Children can draw a picture to go with their poems. Collect the poems in a class Neighbor Poems book.

Art: Poem Picture
At the end of the book, the artist draws a series of pictures that illustrate scenes from the poems. Encourage children to choose another scene from the poems to illustrate. Display the illustrations around the classroom.

Math: Circle Fractions
Nata-lee knows her fractions. Help children learn theirs. Have them work in small groups, and provide each group with five construction paper circles. Ask groups to cut the circles into the fractions that Nata-lee knows: halves, thirds, eighths, and sixteenths. Then groups can cut out the last circle into whatever fractional parts they choose. The rest of the class can try to identify each group’s final fraction.

Language Arts: Write a Summary
Amber and Essie’s story is written in poems. To be sure children understand the events in the book, have them write a one- or two-line summary of each poem. Then ask them to work in pairs to write a brief summary of the whole book.

INTERNET ACTIVITY
Before you send children to do research using any of the keywords suggested below, you may wish to try them yourself to be sure the sites are suitable.

Turret Pictures
Have children use the Internet to find pictures of turrets like Nata-Lee’s. Using the keywords “turret” or “tower houses”, children can search for pictures of turrets. When they find one they like, they can print it out, label it, and show it to the class.
